MM Docket No. 95-31

The decision by the Commission to return all applications filed by NCE applicants as unacceptable for filing and not accept any amendments to the applications including to change an applicant's status from NCE to commercial is in my opinion not in the public interest. May I suggest that the Commission consider amending their decision to include the following two (2) items:

1) Allow NCE applicants thirty (30) days to file an amendment to change the status of their application from NCE to commercial. All NCE applicants that change the status of their pending application from NCE to commercial will then be included in the auction along with all the commercial applicants.

2) Allow NCE applicants thirty (30) days to amend their application to a NCE reserved band frequency without opening a window to allow other applicants to file applications, providing a NCE reserved band frequency is available. If two (2) or more NCE applicants file to move to the same NCE frequency, then the mutually exclusive applications could be decided by the existing NCE point system.

All NCE applications that are not changed to commercial or are moved to a NCE reserved channel will then be returned by the Commission as unacceptable for filing. The above two (2) suggestions would be in the public interest, provide additional service to the public and avoid another legal battle that will delay the resolution of all the current pending applications, some of which have waited ten (10) years so far for a resolution of this matter.
